Elon Musk has spoken out about his painful estrangement from his transgender daughter, calling her a 'communist' and blaming her politics on the expensive private high school she attended.

Musk's now 19-year-old child last year legally changed her gender to female and her name to Vivian Jenna Wilson, saying in court filings that she 'no longer wishes to be related' to the billionaire Tesla CEO 'in any way.'

The billionaire was 'generally sanguine' when he first learned of his child's transition, but things changed when Vivian, who also goes by Jenna, began expressing extreme Marxist views and declared her intention to sever all ties, according to Isaacson.

'She went beyond socialism to being a full communist and thinking that anyone rich is evil,' Musk told the author, placing blame in part on Crossroads, the private K-12 school in Santa Monica where annual tuition costs up to $50,000.

name is now Jenna ... Don't tell my dad.'

The biographer reveals that Musk's painful rift with Vivian is partly responsible for the billionaire's ongoing obsession with 'woke' ideology, which he views as a threat to human civilization and motivated his $42 billion purchase of Twitter last year.

'Unless the woke mind virus, which is fundamentally anti-science, anti-merit, and anti-human in general, is stopped, civilization will never become multiplanetary,' Musk told the author.

Though Musk has previously blamed 'woke' schools for his rift with Vivian, it is the first time he has named Crossroads, which caters to the children of the rich and famous, and has a star-studded roster of alumni.

Founded in 1971 as a secular school initially affiliated with St. Augustine By-the-Sea Episcopal Church in Santa Monica, the school has evolved into a prestigious academy for the next generation of Hollywood stars.

Crossroads alumni include a slew of A-listers such as Zooey Deschanel, Jonah Hill, Jack Black, Kate Hudson, and Gwyneth Paltrow.

Jack Quaid, the son of actors Meg Ryan and Dennis Quaid and himself a rising Hollywood star, also graduated from the school.

LeBron James' sons, Bronny and Bryce, both also attended Crossroads before transferring to Sierra Canyon for that school's basketball program.

Vivian, seen last year, first submitted a legal petition to change her name and her gender back in April 2022
